Farm Fresh Market GH (FFGH) is a community-focused farmers' market initiative designed to bring together farmers, wholesalers, households, and consumers in one convenient location to purchase fresh agricultural produce directly from the source.

The event provides an affordable and healthier alternative to traditional markets by reducing the role of middlemen, thereby enabling farmers to receive fair value for their produce while giving consumers access to fresh and high-quality food at competitive prices.

The Farm Fresh Market GH is scheduled to take place at the University of Ghana, Legon, opposite the University Sports Stadium, from March 1 – 2, 2026. The two-day event is expected to host a wide range of farmers and wholesalers while welcoming thousands of community members seeking fresh farm produce and a vibrant market experience.

Beyond the market itself, the event will feature a variety of engaging and entertaining activities for families and visitors.

Expect a vibrant experience filled with a wide variety of food and drinks, all set within a lively atmosphere. With great music and engaging community interactions, every moment is designed to create a truly enjoyable and memorable experience for all attendees.
